

View our webcast of a public event held in Washington, D.C. on School Readiness: Closing Racial and Ethnic Gaps.

On Tuesday, March 15, 2005 the Brookings Institution hosted a conference about School Readiness: Closing Racial and Ethnic Gaps. Panelists discussed the latest Future of Children volume, which focuses on sources of these racial and ethnic gaps in school readiness among preschoolers, and policies that might close these gaps and improve educational outcomes for all children.

The Future of Children: A Publication of The Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University and The Brookings Institution.