

Recording of The Future of Children's School Readiness audio conference will be available online after May 20th.

Due to the immediate and overwhelming response to our inaugural audio conference registration, enrollment is now closed. Please remember that an audio recording of The Future of Children's School Readiness conference will be available on our website www.futureofchildren.org after May 20.

Unfortunately, we had to limit enrollment due to the fact that we offered this as a free service. In anticipation of future audio conferences, we would like to explore your interest in fee based registration, which would guarantee an open enrollment. If there was a $20 charge to access the conference would you still be likely to participate?

The Future of Children: A Publication of The Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University and The Brookings Institution.